

Strength Training — Day C

Sunday, August 30, 2026 · Hill warm-up first, then this session · 25 lb/hand is your current dumbbell ceiling

Today's plan: last time (8/21) was the first-ever Day C session, and every weighted exercise landed right at the bottom of its rep range at 10 lb — completely normal for a brand-new day. Today's move is simple: same weight across the board, push reps up toward the top of each range. Once an exercise hits the top of its range for all 3 sets, next session is when weight goes up. Full reasoning is in the Notes column.

One thing to confirm before you start: Bird Dog, Dead Bug, and Single-Leg Glute Bridge were each done for 3 sets last time, but the written plan (workout-plan.md) still says 2 sets for those three. If 3 sets was a deliberate call, let me know and I'll update the plan doc — for now this worksheet keeps you at 3 sets since that's what you actually did. Also: last time Band Pull-Apart was done bodyweight-only because no band was on hand — today's target assumes you have one now.

| Exercise                                          | Target                                                   | Last Time (8/21)                  | Today's Target                                                                                                                                                                                  | Actual (fill in) |
|---------------------------------------------------|----------------------------------------------------------|-----------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------------|
| Bulgarian Split Squat (dumbbell, per side)        | 3 x 8-12/side                                            | 3 x 8 @ 10 lb                     | 3 x 10-12 @ 10 lbbottom of range last time — push toward the top before adding weight                                                                                                | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Single-Leg Romanian Deadlift (dumbbell, per side) | 3 x 8-10/side                                            | 3 x 8 @ 10 lb                     | 3 x 9-10 @ 10 lbshort range — close to the top already                                                                                                                               | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Dumbbell Incline Press (stability ball)           | 3 x 8-12                                                 | 3 x 8 @ 10 lb                     | 3 x 10-12 @ 10 lbbottom of range last time — real room left before the weight jump                                                                                                   | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Renegade Row (dumbbell, per side)                 | 3 x 6-10/side                                            | 3 x 6 @ 10 lb                     | 3 x 8-10 @ 10 lbbottom of range last time — push toward the top                                                                                                                      | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Bird Dog (per side)                               | 2 x 8-10/side(3 sets actually done — see note above) | 3 x 10 @ bodyweight               | 3 x 10 @ bodyweight, add a 2-3 sec hold at full extensionalready at the top of the rep range with no weight to add — hold time is the next lever, same as the 25 lb-ceiling protocol | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Dead Bug (per side)                               | 2 x 10-12/side(3 sets actually done)                 | 3 x 10 @ bodyweight               | 3 x 11-12 @ bodyweightstill room before this one also maxes out on reps                                                                                                              | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Dumbbell Overhead Carry (per side)                | 3 x 30-40 ft/side                                        | 3 x 30 ft @ 10 lb                 | 3 x 35-40 ft @ 10 lbbottom of range last time — extend distance before adding weight                                                                                                 | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Single-Leg Glute Bridge (per side)                | 2 x 10-12/side(3 sets actually done)                 | 3 x 10 @ bodyweight               | 3 x 11-12 @ bodyweightbottom of range last time — push toward the top                                                                                                                | ___ / ___ / ___  |
| Band Pull-Apart                                   | 3 x 15-20                                                | 3 x 15, no band (bodyweight-only) | 3 x 15-20 with bandreal band tension changes the target — start back at 15 and build up now that a band's actually in the mix                                                        | ___ / ___ / ___  |

Deload reminder: every 4-6 weeks, drop to ~60% of usual weight for one week. No deload logged yet since the program started 7/12.

Progression rule: stay in the rep range shown until every set hits the top of it — that's the signal to add weight next session and drop back to the bottom of the range.

25 lb ceiling protocol (in order, once weight can't increase further): 1) extend the rep ceiling up to 20 reps 2) add tempo/pause (3-4 sec lowering, or a 2-sec pause) 3) swap in a new isolation exercise for the same muscle group. New/heavier equipment is your call to make, never assumed.